

Stephanie Schwerter is professor of English at the University of Valenciennes. Before moving to France in 2008, she worked in Northern Ireland, teaching at the University of Ulster and at Queen's University Belfast. She has published on Northern Irish Troubles Fiction and on the intercultural connections between Irish, German, Russian and French poetry. Her current research project is entitled: "Belfast after 1994: Narrating the Troubles in Post-Ceasefire Film".